100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va. ; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number ; among them—a new bear-skin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing ; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named JAMES, about 22 years of age, his fore-teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there. I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with ; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held ; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands ; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands ; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

Daily Gazette, 7 dolls...Country, 5 dolls.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1819.

The New Orleans Gazette of the 4th inst. states, that a most dreadful hurricane took place on the coast of New Orleans, on the 28th ult. in which the U. S. schooner Firebrand, officers and crew, were entirely lost; several others have met a similar fate, or have been sunk.—The officers on board the Firebrand were Lieutenant Grey, Dr. Wardle, and Messrs. Perkins and Adams, midshipmen. The schooner Thomas Shields was also capsized at the bay of St. Louis, and all the hands lost. All the houses at the bay of St. Louis were seriously damaged, and most of them blown down. The extent of the damage, it appears by the New Orleans Gazette, are as yet but partially known.

The President has appointed Richard Bland Lee, of the District of Columbia, Judge of the Orphans' Court for the county of Washington, in the District aforesaid, vice Robert Brent, resigned.

Norfolk, August 28.

THE WEATHER.

We do not recollect ever to have witnessed at this season of the year, a heavier fall of rain than we have had in this place within the last eight and forty hours. With very little intermission it poured a perfect torrent, from Thursday afternoon, about four o'clock, until nearly the same hour yesterday, blowing a heavy gale of wind the greater part of the time from North-east to west, shifting frequently. The sudden change of wind from the former to the latter point, on the first of the flood tide, checked the water passing up James River, and caused it to raise so high in this harbor that all the wharves were overflowed, and most of the warehouses contigious had their lower floors covered from one and a half to two and a half feet. The damages sustained from this source is little short of, if it does not exceed, 2 thousand dollars. Messrs. J. and W. Southgate, J. R. Harwood, W. Ashley and S. & P. Christian are the principal sufferers—The three first by injury done to perishable articles in the lower story—and the last by the tide sweeping off a quantity of shingles from the end of Moran's wharf. Spars, plank, heavy timber, and wharf logs were seen floating about in the harbor, and deposited in places on the wharf where they had been left at the recess of the tide.

Several vessels were driven on shore in different parts of the harbor, but, we believe, sustained no damage.

The wind blew with intense violence until about 5 o'clock yesterday evening; and when our paper was put to press the weather had not assumed any thing of a settled appearance.

We anticipate shocking accounts from such vessels on the coast as were unable to make a harbor before the gale set in. Our harbor is full of vessels that had put in in expectation of bad weather. [Herald.

A pilot boat which came up yesterday evening, reports that they put a pilot on board brig Boxer of Liverpool, bound to Baltimore, on Tuesday—On Thursday morning, early, Cape Henry about 30 miles distant, put one on board ship Boston, Finlay, from Liverpool, bound to Alexandria, full of passengers—did not learn how long out. The Boston was almost a wreck, having carried away her main and fore masts close to the deck, and her mizen mast just above the top—was not injured in the hull. The pilot enquired of captain F. but did not ascertain when she sustained the damage—but supposes in the gale of Sunday night. He saw her again about 11 o'clock the same day, close in with the land, and supposes she anchored that night on the Horse Shoe. On the same day put a pilot on board a ship from the northward, name not remembered.—Saw on Thursday evening a large ship, supposed the Indiaman Sedney, come in the Capes and proceed up the Bay.

VIOLENT GALE OF WIND.

We have seen a letter from C. Hart, esq. to a gentleman in this city, dated Mobile, July 31, which says, we have experienced one of the severest gales of wind ever felt in this part of the country. It commenced on Tuesday last, and has not ceased yet Holman's & Gunnison's two wharves received the most injury. One is entirely washed away, and the other partly destroyed. The water is into Stewart's store, and boats are sailing about the town in every direction.

A letter from Blakely, dated the 1st of August, which we have also seen, states that the gale had ceased, and although the water came up to the stores on the wharves in that place, yet the damage sustained was but trifling.

There is reason to feel the gale has extended itself all along the southern coast, and has done much damage to property on the Mississippi, and in the West Indies.

PIRACY.

John Jenny was arrested on Saturday last, and carried before Mr. Parker, who, in the absence of the Attorney of the United States, committed him for examination, and yesterday caused him to be carried before the Hon. John Davis, District Judge. It appeared on the trial that Jenny had confessed in the hearing of several witnesses, at different times, that he was one of the crew of the Buenos Ayrean privateer Louisa, who rose upon the officers, put them out of the Louisa, and afterwards landed at the Isle of May, committed robbery there, and sundry acts of piracy on the high seas. Afterwards the Louisa arrived off Charleston, and Jenny and some others left the Louisa, and got on board a coaster, and arrived at Savannah, where one of them turned States' evidence, and Jenny, among others, was committed to prison. After some confinement they broke gaol, and Jenny, went by land to Georgetown, where having some quarrel with the captain with whom he first shipped, he jumped overboard, swam a mile or two, got on board the sloop Friendship, and arrived in Boston last Wednesday. These facts were disclosed by him in sundry conversations with different individuals, particularly to capt. Isaac A. Adams, to whom the public is indebted for his arrest, and also to Dr. Welsh at quarantine ground. Judge Davis committed Jenny for a capital offence.

From the Baltimore Morning Chronicle.

FORBEARANCE.

It is much to be lamented that in seasons of distress, our fellow citizens do not exercise more mutual forbearance.—Adversity is at all times a ponderous burden, but when we do not attempt to alleviate the loads on the shoulders of each other, it is a burden full of sharp asperities——that galls and wounds in proportion to its weight. A sea-captain, with whom we were once acquainted, was taunted by his friends with betraying all his obnoxious traits of character, in a storm. At such a season, he was ferocious and vindictive, incapable of uttering one kind word, so that the unfortunate sailors, in addition to the buffets of two tempestuous elements, were compelled to endure the reproaches of their commanding officer. He was desired to explain this peculiarity in his character, and he accounted for it after this wise. He said that much valuable property was entrusted to his care; that he was anxious and fearful lest he should never arrive at his port of destination; that actuated by such motives he was compelled during the sweep of winds and roar of the foaming billows, to quarrel with the hands on board, to prevent him from quarrelling with himself. The argument, our readers will, perhaps perceive without any suggestion of ours, turns the other way; for in proportion to insufferable difficulties and misfortunes, such for instance, as the conflict between the winds and the waves, in proportion as such embarrasments press upon and surround us in the same proportion ough we to husband whatever remains from the ravage of this calamity, to render the pressure more light. This sea captain aggravated all the miseries of the winds and the wave. At the moment that his crew required consolation, he was the first to do all in his power to prevent the safe arrival of that property in port. His conduct would excite mutiny in the crew, and jeopardize the property entrusted to his care. Mildness and humanity, clemency and forbearance, became the stern and imperious duties of this commander, when the heavens and the ocean were in conflict.—When we are environed by dangers that we cannot resist, it behoves us not to add to such miseries, by imposing miseries that, but for our invention, never would have existed. To apply the present story—we are all of us in a political sense of the term, mariners in a storm, and it demands our confederated efforts to ride out the tempest with security. The tumult that rages without, is beyond our jurisdiction: we cannot prevent a single blast from the lips of Boreas, or a single swell of the surges of Neptune:——these miseries are the offspring of the elements, and like the elements they are beyond our control. The demon of the tempest will flash lightning from his eye, and will hurl thunders from his hands. This calamity it is out of our power to remove; for of this, we must all be the victims. But it is in our power not to add, (to adopt the allusion with which we set out) not to add to the strength of the moral elements. Human life is but a vessel, in which we are all embarked, and though we cannot imprison the winds, or assuage the fury of the billows, we may at least cease to aggravate these miseries, and prevent quarrels amongst the crew.

The deficiency of a circulating medium, the suspicious character of the banks, is the external misery with which we are afflicted: it is not in our power to restore confidence when once violated, no more than it is in our power to check the concussion between the winds and the waves But while this feeble human life, which may be regarded as the vessel, is made alternately the sport and the prey of such storms, does it become the hands on board at such a season to quarrel with each other, or to exercise clemency and forbearance? While the thunderbolt cleaves the firmament with its ominous fires, and threatens destruction every moment, must we be engaged in the task of mutual destruction, as if we wished to aggravate all the horrors of the scene? In the absence of a circulating medium, is every thing to be sacrificed to obtain that which is beyond our power to obtain, as much as it is to control the conflict of the winds and waves? Money is the representative of property, and we conceive it no more than just, that he who presses for money at the present moment, should be compelled to take property in satisfaction of his debt, by a fair and impartial valuation. The present state of things presents almost an anomaly in human affairs: a man is bankrupt if you demand money, the representative of property; and perfectly solvent, if you will accept of property in satisfaction of the debt—the shadow, according to our principle of action, becomes the substance, and the substance becomes the shadow.

From the New-York Gazette, Aug. 27.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.

Captain Dowdall has favored us with London papers of the 12th ult. two days later than those which reached us by former arrivals. The contents of these papers are not interesting. The seditious meetings in England continued. The impudence of Wooler who writes the Black Dwarf is one of the leaders. His remarks on the York Hussars procured him a good caning by the commander of the corps, lord Grantham. He received the chastisement, but not without a spirited resistance. A journeyman from the printing office succeeded in effecting a separation.

The Prince Regent was to prorogue parliament in person in the House of Lords on the 13th of last month.

At the Doctor's Commons, on the 10th of July, a suit was brought by a Mrs. Turner against her husband F. M. Turner, Esq. for a separation on the ground of adultery. The fact of adultery was proved, and the Court pronounced separation. The husband, who was present, was so much affected at the sentence, that he burst into a flood of tears.

The funeral of Madam Blanchard was attended by seven mourning coaches, and several family coaches were in the train, she was 45 years of age.

The English India Company have declared a half yearly dividend of 5½ per cent.

The London Morning Chronicle of the 21st ult. says—"A serious calamity has befallen Mr. Moore, of poetical celebrity, in consequence of the misconduct of a deputy whom he has employed some years in his office at Bermuda, and who has embezzled a considerable sum of money, for which Mr. Moore is of course, legally responsible. The cause was decided in the Cockpit before the Lords of Appeal, on Tuesday last, and an attachment decreed against Mr. Moore's person."

A respectable Leeds paper says—"A Sunday School has been established for some time at Manchester, for the purpose of teaching children 'To hate kings and priests'—It is conducted by reformers.—Thus they hope to increase their ranks, by alienating children from the worship of Almighty God on a Sunday, and imbuing their minds with the principles of infidelity and jacobinism; a sufficient comment upon their schemes, when they acknowledge that they are unable to accomplish them, except by destroying the obligations of religion and the foundation of morality."

During the last week a reforming female visited Leigh and the neighborhood to disseminate revolutionary principles in the families of the work people, to whom she expatiated on the necessity of altering things, and descanted fluently on the usual topics of reform.

But perhaps the most singular, as it was certainly the most degrading part of her mission, was to instruct them in the manufacture of the revolutionary pike; a formidable weapon which has been introduced into various parts of this neighborhood, and the existence of which now remains no longer a matter of doubt.—She was very precise in her directions.

[Wheeler's Manchester Chronicle.

Extract of a private letter.

"Irun, June 20.

"The recent ministerial revolution, which has taken place at a moment when least expected, has produced a temporary suspension of the consideration of the king's marriage, and the Cadiz expedition. The circumstances of the moment are so imperious to our monarchy, that men, the most indifferent to public affairs, are irresistably impelled to meditate upon them. On the one hand South America presents the aspect of a crisis which daily becomes more alarming.—On the other, it appears certain, that our relations with England are extremely precarious. Amidst all these difficulties, in which our political situation is involved, the rumor, true or false, of the cession of the island of Cuba, has reached us from foreign states. However improbable such intelligence may appear, the fear that it may rest on some slight foundation, has been sufficient to excite alarm, and it is not without just motives. In effect, the little commerce we carry on with America, is with the port of of Havana, the capital of that island; it is by this channel that we maintain a communication with Mexico, that we sometimes receive from that country bullion, piastres, cochineal, Peruvian bark, and other valuable merchandize; it appears, therefore, impossible to conceive, that our government could even entertain a thought of its cession. These extravagant reports, doubtless, conceal one of those political manœuvres, now become so common, and which time alone will develope."

The partiality of the Emperor of Hayti to England has been evinced on many occasions, but perhaps never more markedly than in the following anecdote:—A dispute arising at Cape Francois between a few English merchants and some others respecting the settlement of some property; both parties appealed to the law, and the case was decided against our countrymen. These, however, instead of yielding submission to the constituted authorities, repaired to Christophe, and obtained a promise that the affair should be reconsidered. On the day appointed for the Merchants to meet him, they were introduced into his presence, where they found the judges from whose decision they had made the appeal. The merchants were requested to sit down, while the judges were ordered to take their stand in certain parts of the room which he allotted them. The places which they thus occupied were immediately under some cocks through which water occasionally issued to cool the apartment. The cocks were then instantly turned, and in this degraded situation the judges were compelled to remain with water streaming on their heads, and running over their bodies, until his Majesty was pleased to liberate them. Having detained them in this condition for some time, they were dismissed with these observations; "I hope, gentlemen, that by this time your heads are somewhat cool. When you gave your decision against these English merchants, they were rather too warm. But as they are now reduced to a more moderate temperature, you must reconsider this business and give your judgement accordingly."—The affair was immediately re-examined; and the claims of the English, as might naturally be expected, were soon discovered to be just. [Bell's Messenger.

On the 2d July, a petition from the Duke of Kent was read in the House of Commons praying to be permitted, in consequence of embarrasments, to dispose of a part of his real estate by way of lottery. Lord Castlereagh in opposing the application, stated that the Duke possesses an annual income of thirty two thousand pounds sterling. The petition was withdrawn without taking a vote.

Nothing ever exceeded the abundance of the crops of corn of every kind in the northern provinces of France.

CHINESE VACCINATION.

The Chinese physicians innoculate their children by putting some of the dry infection of the small-pox into a little musked cotton, which they put up the nostrils of the child, and then make it breathe through the contaminated medium, by which means it inhales the contagion, and becomes infected.

The exhibition of paintings at the royal academy, Somerset-House, London, was opened for the inspection of the public in May last, and contained no less than 1,248 different specimens of the art. Among the artists whose works were exhibited, there were two of our countrymen, viz. Allston and Leslie, who appear to have gained a good deal of reputation.—The following description of Leslie's picture is copied from an English periodical publication, of acknowledged merit, for June, 1819, and we have no doubt will be read with much gratification by the author's friends and countrymen. N. Y. Com. Ad.

The subject of the painting is—"Sir Roger de Coverly going to Church, accompanied by the Spectator, and surrounded by his Tenants"—See Spectator, No. 112.

"This picture is a production of much genius in the class of real life; and it evinces an insight into human nature, which is more extraordinary in an artist of only two or three and twenty. He possesses so much of Addison's delicate humor and fine sense, that, if the Spectator had been a painter, this performance would have done honor to his pencil. Sir Roger's face is seen in profile, and his figure, nearly in a back view, close to the centre of the foreground. He is in the pathway advancing to the church door, which is open almost immediately before him. His sword, cocked hat, and edging of white feathers; the flowing black wig; the fashion and gold lace of the scarlet coat; the clocks in his chocolate colored stockings, and his red heeled shoes, mark the days of Queen Anne. He is patting the curly head of a shabby little boy, who stands before him with his prayer book under one arm, and his hat under the other, not daring to raise his head, although his eye looks timidly up, stealing a bashful glance at Sir Roger. His coat is a mourning of russet gray, with black buttons, the fashion of 1711. His younger sister, a rosy little rogue, stands close behind him, looking up at the good knight, with her finger on her lip, as if reminding him that she, too, has a claim on his attention. Behind them, the widow, their mother, with her hat held down before her, is curtseying with grave propriety to Sir Roger; and her youngest little girl, holding the skirt of her gown, looks on, with attention, at the reception of her brother. These figures are lively transcripts of nature, and of a respectable order in life. Behind the widow, at some little distance, under the shade of a huge yew tree, a rustic is advancing with his wife and daughter. On the other side of Sir Roger, Addison is in a rich purple coat, cocked hat and edging of black feathers flowing wig & red stockings, with a sword by his side, in the fashion of the times.—He holds the worthy knight under the right arm, and is looking complacently at his kind notice of the widow's little family—A grey-headed respectable looking farmer, with his hat in his hand, in obeisance to the knight, and holding his daughter, a modest, handsome young woman, under the arm, stands near to Addison. A clodpole, in a white frock, is close beside him, holding his hat awkwardly down before him, with one hand spread on his head, gaping at the great folks, in clownish apprehension, joy and wonder. A decayed old woman, in a steeple hat, and long dark cloak, resting on her stick, and two other females more behind, extend this group of the tenants, somewhat in an irregular diagonal line towards the beadle, who stands at the church door, in his official dress.—Beyond the old farmer and his daughter, a woman is endeavoring to shew her good manners, by preventing a little urchin, her son, from chasing a butterfly with his hat. In the right corner, beside a low tomb, over which a boy and girl are peeping, a fat, browzy vulgar woman is busy, setting a clumsy boquet in her bosom. Her face is as red as fire, and sweltered with her walk in the heat of the day. The ludicrous points of her squat figure are humourously set off by the full display of her heavy holiday finery in all its antiquated purity. A huge low crowned straw hat, loaded with a trimming of orange colored ribands, a capacious stomacher braided with similar ornaments, an old brocade gown, richly flounced apron, deep ruffles, black gloves, dark red stockings, large flat heeled shoes, and small metal buckles, and a head starched up with an air of consequential vanity, furnish out this admirable comic character. Her son, a great broad-faced and narrow-cheeked seet of sixteen, in a carter's frock, with his hat off, stands behind her staring, in stupid silence, at Sir Roger and Addison. Two women behind him terminates the group, and Sir Roger's mansion and domain are seen in the back ground, on this side of the picture.

"The artist has treated this subject with great felicity. The figures are agreeably disposed, and there is a fine vein of dramatic invention in the characters. Sir Roger and Addison are easy, well-bred gentlemen of Queen Anne's court. The modest respectability of the widow and her children, in their class, are as admirably depicted. The old farmer and his daughter are, in their degree, painted with an unaffected simplicity. The fat, red-faced piece of rustic pride, in all her clumsy finery, and the two staring clowns, form the comic spirit of the piece, and have not been excelled, in their kind, even by Hogarth himself. So chaste is the humor of the picture, that the great pleasantry of these drolls is their absolute truth of nature. The incident of the boy and butterfly is appropriate; and the beadle and remaining figures are subordinates, which judiciously fill up the piece, and set off the more prominent actors. The execution is sound, the coloring clear and mellow, the pencilling free but firm; the drawing good; the expression well defined, and the heads marked with spirit and decision. We confess we have had some doubts, whether the sky and back ground are sufficiently low in tone: but where there is so much excellence, we lay little stress on our opinion in this particular."

Valuable Land for Sale.

THE subscriber will sell at private sale, the tract of land on which he lives, containing about Fifteen Hundred Acres.

It joins the town of Warrenton, the seat of justice for Fauquier county—It is 42 miles from Alexandria, the city of Washington and Georgetown; 40 from Fredericksburg, and 45 from Winchester. This estate, in a neighborhood celebrated for health and good water, is well adapted to grazing and to the growth of corn and wheat. The turnpike road leading from Alexandria to Warrenton is finished, with the exception of seven miles. The improvements are a two story house, about fifty feet long, in the suburbs of Warrenton; two houses for overseers; a large barn, stables, and every necessary house for a farm. On the property are 3 good apple orchards, and a variety of other fruit trees. This tract is now divided into two farms—each of which has a superabundance of wood, and is laid off into six fields under good fences, with running water in every field. I believe there is a sufficiency of stone on the land to enclose the whole tract. Both farms have been under a course of clover and plaister for several years, by which they have been much improved, as the plaister acts with very great effect. The subscriber will divide the tract to suit purchasers. The terms are one third down, with an accommodating credit on the balance, if he sells a part; but only one fourth if the purchaser buys the whole tract, together with the stock of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, the farming utensils of every description, and all the provision that may be on hand for the support of the farm.

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior Court of Chancery for the district of Fredericksburg, in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell, at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next,

4000 Acres of Land,

lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg. The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from two to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole is well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, and who is employed to make a survey of it; and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will shew the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. Bond and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

JOHN LINTON,
JOHN GIBSON,
PHILIP HARRISON.

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological, REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York; and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
